

Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering

and super-resolution capabilities when compared to traditional US. It has been experimentally verified that the proposed system achieves 13 times better resolution than the traditional US. In addition, an optimal ultrasound system with Coherent Imaging method and optimized hardware design is presented for future portable capabilities.